

CONGRATULATIONS on purchasing your new Liveboard!

To activate your Liveboard on a Macintosh, follow these instructions:

1 PLUG IN BLUETOOTH USB ADAPTER

Plug in the included Bluetooth USB Adapter into an available USB drive on your computer.

After the Adapter is recognized, the Bluetooth Icon should appear in the upper right menu bar. Make sure Bluetooth is turned "on" and make sure "DISCOVERABLE" is CHECKED.

2 TURN ON THE LIVEBOARD & SET UP FOR WIRELESS CONNECTION

Plug your Liveboard into an available wall outlet within 2-3 feet of your Mac and turn the Liveboard on (HI or LO) by the switch on the rear panel.

The rear STATUS LED (RED) will turn on and the WIRELESS LED (BLUE) will go into FAST BLINK mode (blinking about 4 times/second) which means your Liveboard is ready to be paired to your Mac.

If the WIRELESS LED is in SLOW BLINK mode (blinking once per second), push the CONNECT button in gently with a pencil and hold for 3 seconds. This will switch into FAST BLINK mode.

3 ADD NEW BLUETOOTH DEVICE AND PAIR LIVEBOARD TO YOUR COMPUTER

Once your Liveboard's WIRELESS LED (BLUE) is in FAST BLINK mode, go back to the Bluetooth menu in the upper right menu bar and choose "SET UP BLUETOOTH DEVICE". (This can also be done through your computer's System Preferences>Bluetooth>Devices>Set up new device)

- At "Introduction", choose "Continue".
- At "Select Device Type", choose "Any Device"
- At "Bluetooth Device Set Up" your computer will search for the device. When "Vroop Liveboard" appears in the list, select it and click "Continue".
- Once "Gathering information about your device" is complete, click "continue"; and you should be prompted to enter your Liveboard Passkey. Enter code: 1234. Then Click "Continue".
- "Continue" through the "Select the services you want..." window.

Pairing your Liveboard to your Mac is complete.

4 INSTALL THE LIVEBOARD MANAGER

Download the Macintosh version of Liveboard Manager at www.myliveboard.com/support.htm

After the download, launch LiveboardManager.dmg.

Simply drag and drop the LiveboardManager icon to your applications folder.

Then drag the icon to your applications dock.*

Click and hold the Liveboard Manager icon in the dock to view menu options. Select "Open at Login" if you would like your Liveboard Manager to open at login/startup.

Once the Liveboard Manager is installed, you'll see a gray baseball icon appear in your dock. The baseball will turn white with red stitching when the Liveboard is successfully connected to your MAC. Click and hold the Liveboard Manager icon in the dock anytime to see the menu.

IMPORTANT: Liveboard Manager is only accessible through the dock icon. Do not use the top menu bar, as it is disabled.